

Shared Agreement

This Agreement, dated on the 25th of November is executed by and between the countries of Aionia, Femallium and Uthana, regarding the issue “greenest country in the world”.

We have come to the solution to hold a three-year competition to determine who is worthy of holding the title “The greenest country in the world.”

Because of their past unecological dealings, the countries of Femallium and Uthana herein agree to the term “trial of the High Priest”. They will ask for the forgiveness of the Gods and promise to stop their involvement immediately. In order to be the judge of the competition Uthana will have to eat their own flower called “The flower of truth”. Therefore, they cannot choose a side and be objective. By participating as the judge, they will get free access to Aionia and Femallium at all times. The winning country will get the title of “The greenest country in the world”.
